Tax Information

If you or a member of your family received advanced payments of the premium tax credit (APTC), also referred to as payment assistance, you must file a tax return.

You will need the information on your form 1095-A to file taxes, even if you usually don't file or your income is below the level requiring you to.

Use the information from your 1095-A to fill out Form 8962. Form 8962 is sent with your tax return to "reconcile" your premium tax credit. That means to compare the amount of payment assistance you used with the actual premium tax credit you qualify for based on your final income amount.

If you did not use your payment assistance (APTC), but want to see if you qualify for a premium tax credit based on your final income amount, follow the steps below:

- Use the Benchmark Tool to find the premium for the Second Lowest Cost Silver Plan (SLCSP) available to you for the year. (If you paid full price, this information will be missing from your 1095-A.)
- Use this figure to fill out Form 8962, Premium Tax Credit (PDF). When you're done, you'll find out if you qualify for a premium tax credit based on your final income amount.
- If you qualify for a premium tax credit, you must complete Form 8962 and attach it to your federal income tax return.
